

LICE CLINICS OF HAWAII

Finally,
Effective and
Safe Uku
Treatment

UKUS! Just the word alone causes
you to instantly scratch your head. Should you receive a note home from school that there has been a lice outbreak or if the school nurse calls with

by Sarah Anne Mau

the unfortunate news that YOUR child has head lice - instantly you are filled with feelings of total panic. Lice aren't dangerous, but they are contagious. Children who have head lice should be treated immediately to make sure that the whole class – or school – doesn't come down with a case of the ukus. In addition to causing stress and disgust, they can also create embarrassment on behalf of the child and especially the parent. But since the opening of Lice Clinics of Hawaii, parents are no longer burdened with this pain-staking task.

Lice Clinics of Hawaii, located at Ward and across from Wahoo's Fish Taco, makes getting rid of lice fast, safe, and worry-free. Barrie Desmond, clinic owner and Maui mom experienced the difficulty of treating lice in her own family. "I felt horrible about putting chemicals on my kids' heads and torturing them for hours with a lice comb. Nit-picking is so time consuming and ineffective! I knew there had to be an easier way - and that is when I discovered Lice Clinics of America," she said.

Lice Clinics of Hawaii uses a FDA-cleared medical device, which dehydrates and kills nits and bugs in a single treatment using just heated air. This procedure takes about 60-90 minutes, and comes with a 30-day guarantee. Depending on the severity of the condition, the clinician will recommend an appropriate treatment to fit each individual and budget. None of their treatments use pesticides or toxic chemicals.

Lice Clinics of Hawaii is located in Honolulu at 250 Ward Avenue #209, conveniently located across from Wahoo's Fish Taco. Visit liceclinic-shawaii.com for more information. 🌈
